Geoquip's Most Successful Show Ever at GeoFluid

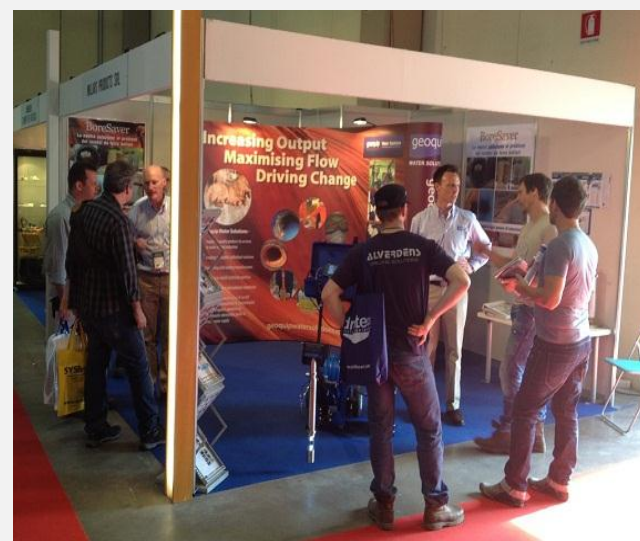

Geoquip Water Solutions had its most successful show ever at GEOFLUID in Italy in October. Exhibiting with their Italian partners, Millars Products, they were overwhelmed by the interest, with visitors from around the globe wanting to understand more about their rehabilitation products and services.

Geofluid were showcasing the BoreSaver well rehabilitation and borehole cleaning treatments, the Laval downhole cameras and the Lakos Sand Separators and Filtration Systems

"We spoke to companies from over 25 countries and came away with both direct orders and more than 100 enquiries for the products we were showcasing," said Mike Deed, Managing Director.

"We've noticed a significant increase in enquiries about borehole rehabilitation and well field maintenance programmes," continued Mike. "We've had considerable success in a range of applications with our BoreSaver maintenance programme and its clear that news of this success is starting to filter out across the water industry. It appears that contamination from iron oxide, iron bacteria and calcium carbonate is on the increase and companies are realising the benefits of implementing a programme that will allow them to control the effects of contamination and maintain the output, flow and quality of their water supply."
